HEALTH SERVICES

Twice as many people in show business do not have health insurance as compared with the national average.

The Actors Fund acts as a resource for more than 400,000 people accessing health information each year.

ARTISTS HEALTH INSURANCE RESOURCE CENTER

Provides detailed information and options for obtaining health insurance. The Center offers workshops, telephone and in-person counseling and a comprehensive state-by-state internet website (www.ahirc.org) of insurers, government programs, small group plans and income-based health care. The Fund also advocates for legislation that increases access to affordable, quality health care.

AL HIRSCHFELD FREE HEALTH CLINIC

Provides free health care and referral services to under- and un-insured professionals in the New York City area. The clinic offers primary and specialty care, health screenings, wellness education and insurance counseling. Associated with the Center for Family Medicine at Columbia University Medical Center, the clinic is staffed with a full-time physician and a referral panel of volunteer specialists.

PHYLLIS NEWMAN WOMEN'S HEALTH INITIATIVE

Offers women faced with health-related issues case management, crisis intervention and assistance in navigating the medical system. Support services include free (to the under- or un-insured) mammograms and gynecological exams, an annual health fair and counseling along with groups, workshops, seminars and resource support that help women coping with significant diagnoses and the situations that result.

STAGE MANAGERS' NATIONAL HEALTH DIRECTORY

An online resource on The Actors Fund website developed in partnership with the Broadway stage management community. It includes referrals to health care providers who have expertise in treating performing artists and covers a wide variety of specialties.

THE PERFORMING ARTISTS' CLINIC

Provides free medical care to those in need in the Los Angeles area. In collaboration with MusiCares and the Venice Family Clinic, it is currently open two evenings per month.
