

Tune In to The Actors Fund Podcast Series

To make its dynamic workshops accessible to SAG members across the country, The Actors Fund recently launched its first-ever podcast series. Available at actorsfund.org/podcast, the series offers valuable information based on workshops from The Actors Fund Work Program and the Financial Wellness Program. Subjects include:

- Finding a Balance — Having a Performance Career and a Meaningful Parallel Career
- Where Are the Jobs That Will Utilize My Skills? Conducting Labor Market Research
- Assessing Credit Health
- Organizing Income
- Organizing Expenses
- Creating a Winning Resume and Preparing for the Interview
- Applying for a Job and Getting a Competitive Edge

The series features the talents of actors Deidre Goodwin, Michael Iannucci, Nancy Johnston and Michael McCoy, and an amazing team of volunteers from Screen Actors Guild, International Cinematographers Guild Local 600, Motion Picture Studio Mechanics Local 52, Motion Picture Editors Guild Local 700 and the Writers Guild of America, East.

Stay tuned for the latest in The Actors Fund Podcast Series by visiting actorsfund.org/podcast. For more information on the Fund's free programs and services, call (800) 221-7303 in NYC or (888) 825-0911 in L.A. or visit actorsfund.org.

ASIAN ON-SCREEN PORTRAYALS EXAMINED

Screen Actors Guild's National Ethnic Employment Opportunities Committee hosted a discussion of Asian portrayals in film and television at SAG headquarters on May 10. The event, titled The New Asia America: Transforming Perceptions, was held to coincide with Asian Pacific Islander

Heritage Month, and featured a distinguished panel discussing ways to challenge Asian stereotypes. From left, Chris Tashima (Visas and Virtue, Day of Independence), Ellen Ho (Ktown Cowboys), James Hong (Big Trouble in Little China, Kung Fu Panda), Sandra Oh (Grey's Anatomy), moderator Jodi Long (Sex in the City, All-American Girl), producer Ken Mok (America's Next Top Model) and casting director Julia Kim (My Bollywood Bride, But I'm a Cheerleader).

Were you ever a Professional Young Performer?

You may have Unclaimed Income you don't know about.

Contact The Actors Fund to find out about claiming these funds, call 323.933.9244 ext. 440.

www.unclaimedcoogan.org

SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS: Union Plus has awarded scholarships to four people who are SAG members or who have a parent who is a member: Evan Griffith of New York, N.Y.; Jan Neuberger of Newtown, Conn.; Culley Schultz of Glen Ridge, N.J.; and Hatsumi Yoshida of Bronx, N.Y. Visit UnionPlus.org/education for more.